2002 Dodge Ram 1500 - Packaging

Cab Dimensions

- Ram Regular Cab has the largest interior of any regular cab full-size pickup. Not only does this create more storage area behind the seats, but seat travel is increased significantly.
- The cab of Ram Quad Cab is more than three inches larger than its predecessor. This allows for large comfortable seating for three people in the rear.

Luxury Features

- The all-new instrument panel features the segment's first optional dual-zone climate control, as well as two power points.
- Optional heated leather seats combine comfort with style.
- The 40/20/40 front bench seat accommodates three people comfortably or two people and the now-famous Ram business console. The console is larger and features folding storage compartments and a power point.
- Hidden under the center seat is an additional storage area.

Storage and Convenience

- Not only are the rear doors on Quad Cab full-size, but they open a full 85 degrees and the windows go down all the way. Handles on the inside and outside make it easier for entry and exit.
- The unique rear seat on Quad Cab is available as a 60/40 split-bench. The seats fold up and out of the way for secure storage of large and/or tall items. The unique split of the seat allows for both cargo storage and passenger carrying capability.
- An optional steel section – hidden under the seat – can fold out to form a flat load floor. In addition, there are separate storage areas under the steel section in each of the footwells.
- Behind the seats on the Regular Cab are convenient accessory hooks and a removable storage bin for tools or other supplies.
